

Executive Proclamation

State of South Dakota Office Of The Governor

WHEREAS, The people of the world will celebrate the establishment and the 44th anniversary of the United Nations on the 24th of October of this year as designated by the United Nations General Assembly; and,

WHEREAS, On this occasion, we join the peoples of the world in reaffirming our commitment to the principles upon which the U.N. was founded-- international peace and security, respect and promotion of social and economic cooperation between nations; and,

WHEREAS, The promotion and protection of human rights and the active participation of the United States government and the peoples of its 50 states in the work of the United Nations are essential to fostering peace and justice in our world; and,

WHEREAS, All Americans are called upon by the President of the United States of America to reflect upon, and participate in, programs and activities celebrating the 44th birthday of the United Nations and the forty-first anniversary of the Universal Declaration of Human Rights; and,

WHEREAS, The United Nations focus is on the entire range of international issues that concern our world today: world hunger, energy conservation, environmental protection and the international economic order; and,

NOW, THEREFORE, I, GEORGE S. MICKELSON, Governor of the State of South Dakota, do hereby proclaim October 24, 1989, as
